

New topic on Denmark's oil and gas production 2009

The topic focuses on the North Sea oil and gas activities in 2009

Read the new topic on the North Sea oil and gas production 2009 and how the North Sea oil and gas activities generate billions in revenue and the production has become more energy efficient in 2009.

Denmark can expect to continue being a net exporter of oil until the end of 2018 and of gas until the end of 2020. If expectations for the exploration potential are met, Denmark will be able to maintain its position as a net exporter of oil until 2035.
